December 2006 Edition

New Years Resolutions Are A Waste Of Your Time!

Hello Achievers!

I'm sure you're busy with the holiday season so I will be brief. First, thanks for spending a few moments reading this newsletter. It means a lot to me to know that we can connect each month via email. Second, I truly hope that you made serious progress on increasing the quality of your life and relationships. Perhaps it was through increasing your income, losing some weight, quitting smoking, or learning to communicate more openly and honestly with your spouse and children. If you are still struggling in these areas, I want you to know that I am working night and day on helping you to take control of your situations and end the chaos/frustration.

I know what it's like to feel lonely, broke, addicted, unhealthy, unhappy, and tortured. I always know what it's like to feel loved, appreciated, wealthy, healthy, happy, and peaceful. As a coach and educator, I've helped thousands of people to go from one end of the spectrum to the other and my mission is to help you achieve the goals and dreams that you have!

In the coming year, I hope to provide you with many tools and strategies for making your life better, happier, and more prosperous. One of the best ways to empower yourself is through our new website www.ShurrSuccess.com. We took our two largest websites and combined them into one powerhouse of information. As you read these words, ebooks, free mp3's, and tons of articles are being uploaded to that site. I want you to have one resource to go to for your personal development needs. People come to Shurr ! Success for many reasons so I provided information on a lot of topics. Whether it's health, relationships, professional prosperity (sales, networking, marketing), or personal development (confidence, motivation), we have programs and online courses that give practical tools and insights that will serve you well in your journey.

My intention is not to sell you anything here, but to continually provide you with information, tools, and resources for becoming the best YOU that you can be. There's a ton of information out there on personal growth. Some of it's good. Some of it's not. The information I give you is Awesome. When I pass along information to you, I know it's fantastic and effective because I've gotten great results from applying it personally or with my clients. To be successful you have to walk the talk and I have. You will only receive resources from us that have "changed the lives" of so many others.

In an effort to continually serve you, I would like to share a new video that's creating quite a storm internationally. One of my friends is involved with this project and I'm sure you will be hearing about it soon. It's called, "The Secret." This 90-minute film shows you once again that what you think about is electro-magnetically drawn into your life. Watch the trailer for free at www.whatistheseecret.tv and then watch the video online for $5 or order the video for $30 at that site. Or, you can attend my class on "The Secret Revealed" in February for free. I have nothing to do with the website or the movie. I just thought the producers did a fantastic job on visually proving that you are creating your life based on the thoughts and feelings you continually reinforce in the body/mind you call "me."

With that said, I look forward to hearing from you, meeting you, and providing you information in 2007 and I wish you and yours the very happiest of holidays!

PS, The title of this newsletter refers to new years resolutions. They are a waste of time. Your subconscious mind has been programmed to believe that nobody actually keeps his or her resolutions. Instead, make a Dream List of what you'd LOVE to do this year and then create an Outcome's List that includes activities for making your Dream List come true. Then watch "The Secret" video to see what to do next.... Happy Holidays!
